Report of the Committee on the Packing-Houses.

General Opinion that the Rendering Establishments Are Responsible.

Louis Wahl's Place Vindicated—A Word About the South Fork.

An adjourned meeting of the General Committee who are investigating Bridgeport stinks was held yesterday afternoon at Dr. McVicker's office, Kentucky block. There was a large attendance. In the absence of Ald. Throop, Ald. Beller took the chair.

Dr. McVicker moved that the appointment of sub-committees be referred back to the Committee on Appointments to report at a future meeting. Carried.

REPORT ON SLAUGHTER-HOUSES.

Mr. J. C. Ambler presented the report of the Committee on Slaughter-Houses, Rendering and Packing Establishments, as follows:

The Committee appointed to consider slaughter-houses, rendering and packing-houses, in submitting their report, have to regret the absence of one of the members appointed—Mr. J. G. Shortall, who, like the members of the committee, is a resident of the city. He was unable to attend on the occasion of the recent visit to the establishments named, your committee have come to the conclusion that there is no reason why a well-located packing-house, including its operations and rendering, should be located in the city as the kitchen of a first-class hotel, and suffering from noxious vapors, and we further find that the establishment of this business is not only a nuisance, but that there are others of a smaller nature for reasons which will hereafter be stated.

It is ascertained that the noxious vapors of which much complaint has been so loudly and frequently made do not proceed from the business of slaughtering and rendering, but from the rendering of the refuse of the city, and it is the manner in which the refuse is rendered that is the cause of the nuisance. It is the manner in which the refuse is rendered that is the cause of the nuisance. It is the manner in which the refuse is rendered that is the cause of the nuisance.

expressed satisfaction with the report made to the establishment. He rebuked his new works on the idea and principle that they should not hurt anyone. Still, as for years past, their establishment was considered the main sink-pond of the city, and he was getting sick of being upbraided for a nuisance which he did not create. Last year, when their establishment was closed, the stinks continued, and he was certainly proud that they could not have been the sole cause of the nuisance. If the Board of Health wished to find out where the stinks originally came from, he would talk to him and he would tell him the truth. He would not talk to him and he would tell him the truth. He would not talk to him and he would tell him the truth.

Dr. McVicker remarked that after the report of the committee on the South Fork, he might be considered a nuisance. He would not talk to him and he would tell him the truth. He would not talk to him and he would tell him the truth. He would not talk to him and he would tell him the truth.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE: THURSDAY, AUGUST 24, 1876.

GAS.

Mr. Swett Continues His Remarks in Favor of Oil.

What the City Has Paid for Gas in Fifteen Years.

A Recommendation that the Contracts Be Abrogated.

The Council Committee on Gas held another meeting yesterday afternoon to consider that important and all-absorbing question—whether gas shall be discarded in the streets, lamps and a cheaper illuminator substituted. There were present Ald. Ravleigh, who presided, Aldrich, and Cullerton, Mayor Heath, Corporation Counsel Anthony, and Leonard Swett, the latter appearing as attorney for some of the Council members. The Council members had been called to order.

Mr. Swett arose and said since he had been before the Council in favor of the gas question, he had gone to the City Engineer to ascertain the amount which had been paid by the city for lighting the streets—lamps for a series of years, and he desired to present to the Council the annual payments for that purpose since 1860—a period of fifteen years. The city in 1860 contained a little over 100,000 inhabitants; now it contained something less than 500,000; so that it ought to be expected that the lighting of the streets would cost five times as much as in 1860, all things being equal. Instead of five times as much, however, the cost of lighting the streets during the last fifteen years has been $2,400,000; 1860-61, $300,000; 1861-62, $350,000; 1862-63, $400,000; 1863-64, $450,000; 1864-65, $500,000; 1865-66, $550,000; 1866-67, $600,000; 1867-68, $650,000; 1868-69, $700,000; 1869-70, $750,000; 1870-71, $800,000; 1871-72, $850,000; 1872-73, $900,000; 1873-74, $950,000; FINANCE AND TRADE.

The Produce Markets Moderately Active, and Mostly Lower.

Provisions Again Weak—Wheat and Corn Turn Downward.

A Few Words About Butter.

FINANCIAL.

There are many facts which show that it needs only a return of confidence among the people to set the wheels of trade and commerce moving slowly, it is true, but with a gradually increasing flow. Nearly all classes of the people have been coming closer since the panic of '73, and the amount of capital saved thereby and doing liquidated is truly immense. The brokers know more about this matter of saving than any other class of the business public. One of them reports that he is waiting for the return of confidence, and that he would not be surprised of having any surplus funds in his country, and other lands. Many dealers in business and small shops would come in and invest their $500 or $1,000, and lay it away till business begins to revive. When that time comes these bonds will come out from their hiding places and find their way into the hands of capitalists who will be glad to get securities that will pay them something above 2 to 3 per cent, while the money paid to small holders will seek the channels of trade and commerce, and will be found ample to give a healthy stimulus to all departments of trade. It is not likely that men of smaller means the public must look for the return of confidence, and that the larger capitalists will be more likely to come forward as a whole unwilling to hazard their large fortunes where there is any possible chance of loss; while those of some moderate means means would move along by instinct when the tide turns and courageously take advantage of it so that in turn they may become the controlling market. Complete and well-informed authority assures THE TRIBUNE that there is really more capital laid aside by Chicago parties than any other having information. The channels of active business whenever it is certain that "bad rock" in business affairs has been reached. Our shareholders observe that at fault if business does not pass the point of depression, and "better times" have not been apparent in nearly if not all departments of trade.
